

Welcome to the site of Skopski Pazar!

The spirit of tradition still exists and is still nourished in these regions even at this time of turbulence. Since the time of bagpipes and drums, inns and pubs, to the time of techno and global communication network, supermarkets and trade centers. Times may change, but the spirit remains. It is the same traditional spirit that is carried from generation to generation as a genetic load. It is the same guild spirit that the company Skopski Pazar has been carrying as a pledge for more than sixty years.